(1) To obtain possession of, exercise control over, or enforce a judgment against receivership property; and

- (2) To enforce a lien against receivership property to the extent the lien secures a claim against the owner which arose before entry of the order.
- (b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (d) of this section, the court may enjoin an act, action, or proceeding against or relating to receivership property if the injunction is necessary to protect the property or facilitate administration of the receivership.
- (c) A person whose act, action, or proceeding is stayed or enjoined under this section may apply to the court for relief from the stay or injunction for cause.
- (d) An order under subsection (a) or (b) of this section does not operate as a stay or injunction of:
- (1) An act, action, or proceeding to perfect, or maintain or continue the perfection of, an interest in receivership property;

  - (5) Exercise of rights of a party to a swap agreement, securities contract, repurchase agreement, commodity contract, forward contract or master netting agreement, as those terms are defined in the federal Bankruptcy Code, to the extent that a court would not have the power to stay the exercise if the defendant were a debtor under the Bankruptcy Code.
- (e) The court may void an act that violates a stay or injunction under this section.
- (f) If a person knowingly violates a stay or injunction under this section, the court may:
- (1) Award actual damages caused by the violation, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs; and

<< RI ST § 10-21-14.1 >>

On appointment of a temporary non-liquidating receiver, the stay under § 10-21-14(a) is effective for the period that the court considers necessary, but not more than ninety (90) days. The court may extend the stay in increments of not more than thirty (30) days.

<< RI ST § 10–21–15 >>

§ 10–21–15. Engagement and compensation of professional.

(a) With court approval, a receiver may engage an attorney, accountant, appraiser, auctioneer, broker, or other professional to assist the receiver in performing a duty or exercising a power of the receiver. The receiver shall disclose to the court:

- (1) The identity and qualifications of the professional;
- (2) The scope and nature of the proposed engagement;
- (3) Any potential conflict of interest; and
- (4) The proposed compensation.

(b) A person is not disqualified from engagement under this section solely because of the person's engagement by, representation of, or other relationship with the receiver, a creditor, or a party. This chapter does not prevent the receiver from serving in the receivership as an attorney, accountant, auctioneer, or broker when authorized by law.

(c) A receiver or professional engaged under subsection (a) of this section shall file with the court an itemized statement of the time spent, work performed, and billing rate of each person that performed the work and an itemized list of expenses. The receiver shall pay the amount approved by the court.

<< RI ST § 10–21–16 >>

§ 10–21–16. Use or transfer of receivership property not in the ordinary course of business.

(a) In this section, “good faith” means honesty in fact and the observance of reasonable commercial standards of fair dealing.

(b) With court approval, a receiver may use receivership property other than in the ordinary course of business.

(c) With court approval, a receiver may transfer receivership property other than in the ordinary course of business by sale, lease, license, exchange, or other disposition. Unless the agreement of sale provides otherwise, a sale under this section is free and clear of a lien of the person that obtained appointment of the receiver, any subordinate lien, and any right of redemption.

However, unless the holder of a senior lien consents, such a sale:

- (1) Is subject to the senior lien and to the rights and remedies of the holder of the senior lien under law other than this chapter; and

(2) Does not affect the obligation secured by the senior lien.

(d) A lien on receivership property which is extinguished by a transfer under subsection (c) of this section attaches to the proceeds of the transfer with the same validity, perfection, and priority the lien had on the property immediately before the transfer, even if the proceeds are not sufficient to satisfy all obligations secured by the lien.

(e) A transfer under subsection (c) of this section may occur by means other than a public auction sale. A creditor holding a valid lien on the property to be transferred may purchase the property and offset against the purchase price part or all of the allowed amount secured by the lien, if the creditor tenders funds sufficient to satisfy in full the reasonable expenses of transfer and the obligation secured by any senior lien extinguished by the transfer.

(f) A reversal or modification of an order approving a transfer under subsection (c) of this section does not affect the validity of the transfer to a person that acquired the property in good faith or revive against the person any lien extinguished by the transfer, whether or not the person knew before the transfer of the request for reversal or modification, unless the court stayed the order before the transfer.

<< RI ST § 10–21–16.1 >>

§ 10–21–16.1. Use or transfer of receivership property in a temporary non-liquidating receivership.

The owner may use or transfer receivership property, by sale, lease, license, exchange or other disposition, only:

- (1) With court approval; and
- (2) After the court approves the operating plan, in accordance with the plan.

<< RI ST § 10–21–17 >>

§ 10–21–17. Executory contract.

- (a) In this section, “timeshare interest” means a “time share” as defined in § 34–41–1.02.
- (b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (h) of this section, with court approval, a receiver may adopt or reject an executory contract of the owner relating to receivership property. The court may condition the receiver's adoption and continued performance of the contract on terms appropriate under the circumstances. If the receiver does not request court approval to adopt or reject the contract within a reasonable time after the receiver's appointment, the receiver is deemed to have rejected the contract.

(c) A receiver's performance of an executory contract before court approval of its adoption or rejection under subsection (b) of this section is not an adoption of the contract and does not preclude the receiver from seeking approval to reject the contract.

(d) A provision in an executory contract which requires or permits a forfeiture, modification, or termination of the contract because of the appointment of a receiver or the financial condition of the owner does not affect a receiver's power under subsection (b) of this section to adopt the contract.

(e) A receiver's right to possess or use receivership property pursuant to an executory contract terminates on rejection of the contract under subsection (b) of this section. Rejection is a breach of the contract effective immediately before appointment of the receiver. A claim for damages for rejection of the contract must be submitted by the later of:

(1) The time set for submitting a claim in the receivership; or

(2) Thirty (30) days after the court approves the rejection.

(f) If at the time a receiver is appointed, the owner has the right to assign an executory contract relating to receivership property under the law of this state other than this chapter, the receiver may assign the contract with court approval.

(g) If a receiver rejects under subsection (b) of this section an executory contract for the sale of receivership property that is real property in possession of the purchaser or a real-property timeshare interest, the purchaser may:

(1) Treat the rejection as a termination of the contract, and in that case the purchaser has a lien on the property for the recovery of any part of the purchase price the purchaser paid;
or

(2) Retain the purchaser's right to possession under the contract, and in that case the purchaser shall continue to perform all obligations arising under the contract and may offset any damages caused by nonperformance of an obligation of the owner after the date of the rejection, but the purchaser has no right or claim against other receivership property or the receiver on account of the damages.

(h) A receiver may not reject an unexpired lease of real property under which the owner is the landlord if:

(1) The tenant occupies the leased premises as the tenant's primary residence;

(2) The receiver was appointed at the request of a person other than a mortgagee; or

(3) The receiver was appointed at the request of a mortgagee and:

(i) The lease is superior to the lien of the mortgage;

- (ii) The tenant has an enforceable agreement with the mortgagee or the holder of a senior lien under which the tenant's occupancy will not be disturbed as long as the tenant performs its obligations under the lease;
- (iii) The mortgagee has consented to the lease, either in a signed record or by its failure timely to object that the lease violated the mortgage; or
- (iv) The terms of the lease were commercially reasonable at the time the lease was agreed to and the tenant did not know or have reason to know that the lease violated the mortgage.

(e) At any time before entry of an order approving a receiver's final report, the receiver may file with the court an objection to a claim of a creditor, stating the basis for the objection. The court shall allow or disallow the claim according to law of this state other than this chapter.
